On the federal level, HHS recently announced a new $15B fund for Medicaid Provider Relief. To facilitate the distribution of these new provider relief funds to Medicaid providers, HHS has launched an enhanced Provider Relief Fund Payment Portal that will allow eligible providers to report their annual patient revenue. This information will be used in determining the amount of each provider's payment, which HHS states will be equal to at least 2 percent of reported gross revenue from patient care. To be eligible for this funding, a provider must not have previously received funds through HHS' general Provider Relief ($50B) distribution. Additionally, the provider must have billed its state Medicaid and/or CHIP programs – either directly or through Medicaid managed care plans – for healthcare-related services between January 1, 2018 and May 31, 2020. We are seeking clarification from HHS as to whether Medicare payments will disqualify providers from participating in this new fund.

Also, on the federal level, CMS has indicated that it is looking at a glide path for ending the 1135 waiver brought about by the pandemic. You will recall that the waiver does many important things including easing the privacy restrictions for telehealth, continuing Medicaid eligibility without reauthorization, and eliminating certain prerequisites for DME acquisition. The waiver is set to expire whenever the federal state of emergency expires. However, CMS has indicated that it will not end the waiver provisions immediately, opting for the “glide path” instead. CMS has also indicated that it may make some of the waiver provisions permanent; telehealth was specifically mentioned.

The General Assembly has been meeting often for committee and session in the last few weeks. The House wrapped up its work on June 11th, but the Senate plans on holding committees and session again during the week of June 22nd. Both chambers worked to get their versions of a capital reappropriations budget through the process before the June 30th deadline. The House's version contained funding for only part of the projects, with about half a billion dollars' less than the Senate version. Rep. Derek Merrin (R-Monclova), sponsored HB 670 saying his proposal continues funding for several agencies – the Ohio Adjutant General, departments of Developmental Disabilities, Mental Health and Addiction Services, Transportation, Public Safety, Rehabilitation and Corrections, Job and Family Services and Youth Services; K-12 school building construction, Public Works Commission, Schools for the Blind and Deaf as well as the Secretary of State. It did not fund university projects or soccer stadiums projects in Columbus and Cincinnati. In all, it proposed an estimated $698 million in reappropriations.

Sponsored by Sen. Matt Dolan, SB 316 includes an estimated $1.28 billion in reappropriations. Three agencies—the Public Works Commission, the Facilities Construction Commission, and the Department of Higher Education—account for $986.6 million or 77 percent of the total. The proposal also includes a small number of items for which the circumstances of the project have changed, and money has been redirected to other projects. It also includes an emergency clause because it needs to be effective by July 1. SB 316 also includes about $325 million for projects at institutions of higher education. On June 4th, the House Finance Committee amended all of SB 316 into SB 310, which is an unrelated COVID-19 response bill. Then, ultimately, all of the provisions of SB 316 and SB 310 were rolled into HB 481 which will now go to the Governor for a signature.

On May 28th, the House passed a bill that offers health care providers and businesses protection from lawsuits related to COVID-19. HB 606 bars civil action related to deaths, injuries or losses tied to transmission of COVID-19 in cases without reckless or intentional conduct. Other provisions in the emergency legislation, which passed 83-9, attempt to shield the state and local governments from coronavirus-related suits, establish a firm end date of the immunity language on December 31, 2020 by placing the language in temporary law, specify that immunity does not apply in certain professional disciplinary actions, and spell out legislative intent. Supporters of the legislation referred to it as a compromise position, comparing it to earlier drafts of the bill that called for a higher standard of legal evidence to determine whether a business was negligent and a broader scope for immunity defenses. Critics of HB 606 said the legislation protects businesses who flout basic public health guidelines to stave off the disease, enticing them away from safe practices. During floor proceedings, the House adopted an amendment from Rep. Brigid Kelly (D-Cincinnati), which gives workers in grocery stores, food packing and processing facilities, peace officers, fire fighters, emergency medical workers and correctional officers access to workers' compensation if they contract COVID-19 while on the job. GAC was successful in making sure SLPs and audiologists were specifically included in the bill. The bill has now had sponsor testimony in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

On June 3rd, a similar measure in the Senate, SB 308, passed the full Senate on a partisan vote and with an emergency clause. A sub bill was adopted, which removes the evidentiary standard of clear and convincing evidence for lawsuits against health care providers and general businesses. Other changes include removal of a serious physical injury requirement and the addition of immunity for health care services that the government prohibited during the early stage of the public health crisis. Class-action lawsuits would be allowed in relation to services and service providers. SB 308 also moved away from protecting from everything up to intentional conduct and added in the criminal law definition of recklessness. Accordingly, general businesses and healthcare businesses are immune from liability for everything up to reckless behavior. Like, HB 606, SB 308 moved the language to temporary law; however, the Senate version extends immunity to April 1, 2021. Finally, as was true with HB 606, GAC was successful in getting SLPs and audiologists added to SB 308. The legislature will have to determine how to reconcile the remaining differences in these two bills, as well as which bill will be the vehicle for passage. Proponents are hoping one of the liability bills passes soon and goes to the Governor for a signature.

The House recently passed HB 679, which would require commercial insurance plans and Medicaid to cover telehealth services. Initially, the bill required an initial face to face appointment prior to the start of telehealth appointments, which was impractical and could produce a barrier to effective use of telehealth. That provision was removed before passage. The bill also initially required telehealth services to be billed by the minute, which is not consistent with current practices and electronic health records and billing software. That provision was also removed. In new language added in the sub-bill, HB 679 added a directive for Medicaid to continue telehealth. In both the commercial insurance language and the Medicaid language, the bill lists specific provider types for whom coverage must be provided. Under both provisions, SLPs and audiologists are specifically included. We are hopeful that this bill will move quickly in the Senate.

The House recently introduced HB 691, sponsored by Reps. Susan Manchester and Phil Plummer. The bill will apply the current prompt pay standards to managed care plans. Under the language of the proposal, MCOs will have 30 days to pay clean claims. If further documentation is needed, it must be requested by the MCO within 10 days. The MCO then must make its payment decision within 15 days after the submission of additional documentation. Providers can bring a claim that an MCO is not following prompt pay guidelines on an individual or group of claims. The penalty to the MCO for failure to comply is 50% of the billed charges every two weeks past the deadline for individual claims or 100% of billed charges on bundled claims. Health plans are likely to oppose the bill.

Outside of the General Assembly, on June 1st, OBM Director Murnieks announced that her office expects revenue in FY 2021, which starts on July 1, 2020, to be about $2.5 billion less than budgeted when the current two-year spending plan was enacted in July 2019. As a result, Ohio is implementing immediate additional measures to reduce expenditures by state agencies, boards, and commissions. Director Murnieks and Department of Administrative Services Director Matthew Damschroder are asking the General Assembly to institute a pay freeze and a freeze on step advancement for exempt employees for FY 2021. Exempt employees will also have mandatory cost savings days, with reduced wages for each pay period in an amount equivalent to 10 days of unpaid leave, representing a pay cut of about 3.8%. Cabinet director salaries will be cut by 4%. In addition, the administration is also asking state employee unions to come to the bargaining table by June 15 to discuss ways to reduce personnel costs among unionized employees. Finally, the state will continue to operate under a hiring freeze with exceptions for staff providing a direct response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Each state agency is required to submit their proposal for cutting costs by up to 20% to OBM by June 12th.

Also, on the administrative front, ODM re-filed all of its COVID related emergency rules on June 15th. The emergency rules filed on March 20th allowing for increased telehealth could have expired soon. This new filing extends the current telehealth rules and regulations for Medicaid and Medicaid schools through mid-October. During that time period, ODM will be looking at how it wants to move forward on telehealth on a more permanent basis.

Separately, ODE filed its new draft operating standards on June 15th. Amendments are proposed for ORC Chapter 3301-51, titled “Education of Students with Special Needs.” The most notable changes include:

- 3301-51-01: Includes new definitions for traumatic brain injury, “coordinate transition services.” “other health impairment- major” and “other health impairment – minor”
- 3301-51-03 – Includes new language on “disproportionate” impact for funding
- 3301-51-04 – Includes changes to disciplinary information
- 3301-51-05 – Removes parental consent for change of placement, provides for new surrogate parent duties, makes changes to provisions allowing changes in IEP required by a mediator, and includes new language regarding appointment of a hearing officer
- 3301-51-06 – Includes new language regarding evaluations for kids who within the state

- 3301-51-07 – Revises the policies and procedures for an IEP of a child in another district, requires transition progress report
- 3301-51-08 – Contains new language regarding the proportionate state amount for expenditures by districts, state assessment language removed because of inconsistency with graduation requirements
- 3301-51-09 – Language changed from “related services specialist” to “related services provider” to be more inclusive, new language added outlining qualifications for special education teachers, clarifies district’s responsibility to ensure compliance with workload rules, adds “no more than” to supervisor caseload provisions, provides a new definition of “transition services.”

Comments on the rules are due by July 31st to rulecomments@education.ohio.gov

House Republicans recently seated a new member to fill the 59th House District left vacant after the death of former Rep. Don Manning in March. Alessandro “Al” Cutrona, an attorney and chief operating officer for a multicounty infectious disease medical practice, was selected unanimously during House session. The majority caucus picked Mr. Cutrona from a field of 14 hopefuls who sought the appointment to represent the northeastern Ohio district.

Ohio's number of new jobless claims was 42,082 for the week ending May 23, the Department of Job and Family Services announced Thursday. The agency said figures for the most recent week brings the total number of initial claims to 1,257,838 over the last ten weeks. That total is more than the number of initial claims filed during the last three years. ODJFS, which has struggled to handle the volume of claims driven by the coronavirus pandemic, said it has distributed more than $3.1 billion in unemployment payments to more than 644,000 individuals.
