Ohio Speech and Hearing GAC
Legislative Activities Report
January 2022

OSHGAC recently submitted comments to the US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) on the rule package Medical Devices; Ear Nose, and Throat Devices; Establishing Over-the-Counter Hearing Aids (Docket No. FDA-2021-M-0555, RIN 0910-AI21). The policy being proposed by the FDA would allow hearing aids to be sold directly to consumers in stores or online without a medical exam or fitting by an audiologist. GAC argued that “many key indicators are lacking that would best ensure the safety and full consumer protection of persons with mild to moderate hearing loss,” and directed the FDA’s attention to guidance offered by the American Academy of Audiology. Similarly, Ohio Attorney General Dave Yost, in conjunction with 41 other attorneys general, asked the FDA to continue allowing states to regulate their own consumer protections for over-the-counter hearing aids. “Ultimately, it is unacceptable for us as primary enforcers of our respective states’ consumer protection statutes to step aside and cede the responsibility for protecting consumers that use hearing aids to the companies supplying the product. We must be allowed to continue with our traditional consumer protection role and we strongly encourage the FDA to make that clear in the final OTC Rule.”

Lawmakers in both the House and Senate put the finishing touches on multiple high-profile bills prior to breaking in mid-December. Neither chamber is scheduled to return to session until January 19. One bill that saw quick movement prior to the end of the year was HB 169, which was amended in the Senate Finance Committee to provide more than $4 billion in federal relief aid to the state. According to Senate Finance Committee Chairman Senator Matt Dolan (R-Chagrin Falls), the need for the rush was because much of that funding had a deadline at the end of the calendar year. A majority, $2.47 billion, is going towards education. The bill also provides $639 million for childcare grants to support the industry in finding more workers. Another $1.05 billion is designed to help frontline health care workers. Funding is also dedicated to mental and behavioral health services. The measure was signed by Governor DeWine, but only after he vetoed a provision that would have allowed recipients of publicly funded childcare services to send their children to any provider for a year, even those locations not meeting quality standards.

Work concluded on a bill aimed to codify the expansion of telehealth services implemented during the COVID-19 pandemic. The Senate Health Committee held a total of six hearings on HB 122 and adopted several amendments. In early December, the bill was unanimously voted out of committee and then the full Senate voted 33-0 to favorably pass HB 122. The House then concurred with all the Senate's amendments, and the bill was sent to Governor DeWine who signed it on December 22. HB 122's provisions will go into effect on March 21, 2022.

The debate over COVID-19 vaccine mandates will likely continue into 2022 as Senate President Matt Huffman (R-Lima) has said there is "a lot of work to be done" on a bill (HB 218), which was passed by the House this winter. The legislation would prohibit employers, schools, and institutions of higher education from mandating vaccines not fully approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. It would also require them to offer broad exemptions to other inoculation requirements and prevent entities from requiring proof of vaccination to enter a facility. President Huffman said after reviewing the bill, he is troubled by its potential effects on parochial schools and religious institutions of higher education. The bill has received two hearings in the Senate where it received pushback from organizations opposed to any vaccine requirements as well as statewide business groups that contend the measure infringes on the rights of employers.

A second effort to start the process on a proposed initiated statute that would bar vaccine mandates was rejected again by Attorney General Dave Yost -- this time because it didn't get the required 1,000 valid signatures needed to be considered. The "Vaccine and Gene Therapy Choice and Anti-Discrimination Act," a proposal to enact Section 3792.02 of the Ohio Revised Code, was first submitted to Yost's office more than a month ago and would enact language similar to HB248 (Gross). It would "prohibit a person, public official or employee, public agency, state agency, political subdivision, school, child day care center, nursing home, residential care facility, health care provider, insurer, institution, or employer from requiring any vaccine or gene therapy." It was rejected the first time because of three defects identified by Yost's office.

The Ohio Supreme Court struck down the new General Assembly (legislative) maps adopted along party-lines by the Ohio Redistricting Commission and gave the commission 10 days to come up with a new plan. The 4-3 decision saw Republican Chief Justice Maureen O'Connor join with the Democrats on the Court in declaring the new Ohio House and Senate maps invalid based on a violation of Article XI, Section 6(A) and 6(B), which state that the commission "shall attempt" to draw maps that correspond with the voting preferences of Ohio voters over the last 10 years. Similarly, a few days later, the Ohio Supreme Court also struck down the congressional map. The General Assembly now has 30 days to rectify the legal defects in the map identified by the court. Should lawmakers fail, the Ohio Redistricting Commission would be reconstituted and granted its own 30-day window to craft a final map.

House Minority Leader Emilia Sykes (D-Akron) announced in December that she will end her three-year tenure as the head of the House Democratic Caucus at the end of 2021. Both Rep. Thomas West (D-Canton) and Rep. Allison Russo (D-Upper Arlington) sought to replace Sykes. After a caucus vote in early January, Russo was elected Minority Leader, West was elected Assistant Minority Leader, Rep. Jessica Miranda (D-Forest Park) was elected Minority Whip, and Rep. Richard Brown (D-Canal Winchester) was reelected as Assistant Minority Whip. Rep. Sykes, who is term-limited in 2020, announced that she would run for the 13th Congressional District, the boundaries of which have yet to be determined after the Ohio Supreme Court invalidated both the legislative and congressional maps.
